Aviator Breaks
Distance RecordWRIGHT PUPIL
IN 186-MILE
FLIGHTStarts Early on the Trip From Chicago to Springfield
Fair Grounds.SPRINGFIELD, Sept.
29.—Brookins arrived at destination at 4:20.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Gibson, 19 miles from Gilman, was passed at 1:36, and Harper, 114 miles from Chicago and 24 miles from Gilman, at 1:45.

Brookins, in passing Mount Pulaski, 35 miles from Gilman, broke the American cross-country aviation record made by Chas. K. Hamilton in his flight from New York to Philadelphia, distance of 35 miles.

Brookins' record is, of course, from Gilman, where he descended after leaving Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Walter Brookins failed in his attempt to make a continuous flight to Springfield, Ill., a distance of 186 miles from Washington Park, Chicago, to Springfield, Ill., today, by descending at Gilman, Ill., 75 miles from his starting point.

The descent of Brookins at Gilman will not prevent the winning of the prize offered by the Record-Building Club, H. H. Kohlman, publisher of the paper, said he would award the prize should the flight to Springfield be completed before next Sunday.

The descent, in a measure, had been provided for, as the aviator did not carry a sufficient amount of fuel to fight the brisk wind which blew across his path the greater part of the journey.

Wright Assists
Wilbur Wright, who was a passenger on the special train following the aviator, overtook his pupil at Gilman and assisted in the resumption of the flight.

Brookins descended easily in a field 200 yards from the Illinois Central station at Gilman, where he awaited the arrival of Mr. Wright, who was carrying the necessary fuel. The special train left the station at 12:07 with Mr. Wright aboard. Brookins did not resume his flight until 34 minutes.

Brookins said that he had enjoyed the trip, that he was not in the least fatigued and that the biplane was working smoothly. He expected no difficulty in reaching Springfield without a further descent.

The aeroplane had maintained a height of 1000 feet, from which the aviator could plainly hear the shouts of the people crowding the streets of the towns over which he passed.

In virtually all the towns along the route.

Oct. 4, 1909—Wilbur Wright, New York, 21 miles, 23m., 31s.
Jan. 18, 1910—Louis Paulhan, Los Angeles, 75.77 miles, 1h., 58m., 32s.

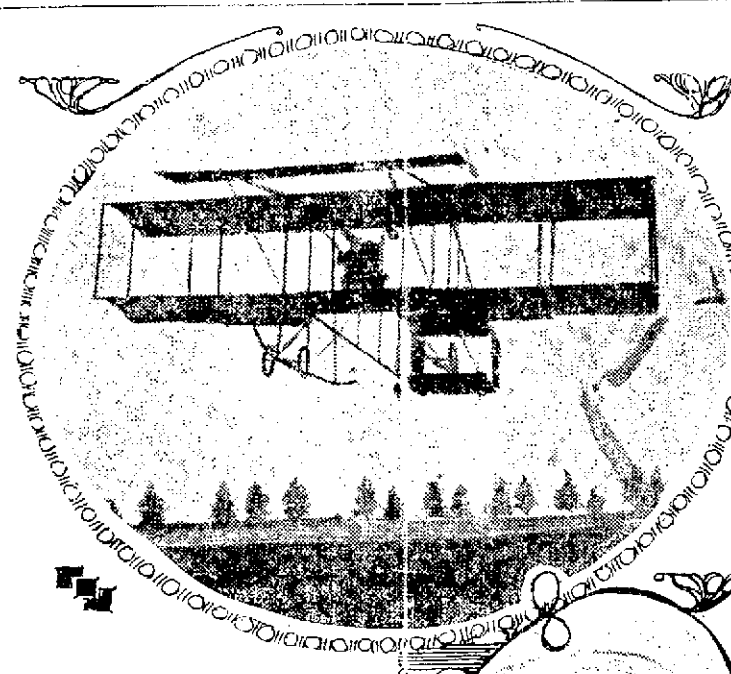

May 29, 1910—Glenn H. Curtiss, New York, 137 miles, 2h., 32 minutes.

June 13, 1910—C. K. Hamilton, New York, 175 miles, 3h., 34m.
July 11, 1910—Glenn H. Curtiss, Atlantic City, 50 miles, 1h., 14m., 59s.

The flight by Glenn H. Curtiss, May 29, 1910, was for the $10,000 prize offered by the New York World for a flight from Albany to New York. He maintained an average of 54 4-5 miles during his flight, which was broken but once, for an hour, at Poughkeepsie.

The flight of C. K. Hamilton, June 13, 1910, was to Philadelphia and return. It was broken at Philadelphia and at South Amboy. On the journey to Philadelphia a speed of 46.92 miles per hour was maintained. On the journey from Philadelphia a speed of 51.36 miles per hour was maintained.

WALTER BROOKIN, who in a Wright aeroplane, is competing today for a $10,000 purse for long distance flight record in the United States.

HASKELL TRIAL
SUDDENLY
ENDEDGovernment Declares It Cannot
Surmount Restrictions Laid Down by Court

MALESTER, Ok., Sept. 29.—The trial of Governor C. N. Haskell, of Oklahoma, in the Muskogee town lot case came to a sudden end today when the government announced that under the restrictions laid down by the court it would be unable to make out a case against Haskell or any of his co-defendants.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE
Governor Haskell and three other defendants were charged in an indictment returned by a Federal grand jury with "conspiracy to defraud the government" in the disposal of town lot sites at Muskogee, Okla. It was charged that by the false representation of the names of persons scattered over the country they secured title to about 600 lots. The disposal of all of the cases today was attributed by the government attorneys to their inability to combine their proof to the period of limitation as fixed by Federal Judge John A. Marshall.

Judge Marshall made the criminal court of appeals decision under which he was bound to rule in some points at variance with his own views, but he had no alternative.

51,000 Registered When
County Books Are Closed

Registration for the November election, on the basis of which the 1910 Great Register of Alameda county will be compiled, closed at the Hall of Records last night at midnight.

The total number of voters who secured transfers from one precinct to another, on account of change of place of residence, and who registered since the primaries registration closed, is about 5000, one-third of which represents transfers. Fully 600 voters were registered yesterday up to 12 o'clock midnight, 200 of them being enrolled after 6 o'clock last evening.

Men Coaches for Girl
Athletes Called 'Mistake'

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—"I am very decidedly opposed to employment of men as athletic instructors or coaches for girls or women," says James E. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, in a letter on the subject made public here today.

"It is a mistake to have a man, for example, in a girls' gymnasium or to coach or direct girls in their athletic exercises."

"A man coach in a girls' school will naturally present his theories from a masculine standpoint. He will tell his pupils to play a good rough game and instruct the girls to do a thing as a boy or man would do them."

"Girls at athletics, when conducted along safe and sane lines, are a real benefit to the health of the girls. They must not be exploited, however, as female Sandows, Sheppards, or show girls. A girl's basket ball team must not be trained in tricks, nor should it be sent around the country to exhibit the players for gate money."

"Competition for girls should be in its own group and in private, without an admission fee, and without the sensational-seeking crowd. Girls should be kept in their own group and not be permitted to take part in public sports."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Advices have been received from American officials in the Orient that critical situations in China and an outbreak similar to the Boxer rebellion of several years ago would not surprise close observers of the recent trend of events.

Diplomatic officials in China have been instructed to maintain a close watch on internal conditions and submit quick telegraphic reports as occasion warrants.

The advices thus far received indicate that the unrest in China is so great that only a leader is needed to put the spark of life into an open revolution.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The alarming news came here late last night that the United States authorities in the Philippines were making preparations for the dispatch of troops to China.

PIKE CONFESSES

Grand Jury to Probe Eva Swan's Death

PAUL PARKER'S
RELEASE NOW
QUESTIONEDDistrict Attorney Fickert's
Action to Be Inquired Into,
Is Report.All Angles of Tragedy to Be Included in Investigation
Tonight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—District Attorney Fickert announced this morning that the grand jury would tonight investigate the various phases of the Eva Swan murder case and that the entire affair would be presented to them, including all of the evidence in the hands of the police.

From other sources comes the information that the action of Fickert himself, in ordering the release of Parker, will be the subject of inquiry.

The district attorney, when interviewed at his office, denies that friendship with Parker or his college relations with the latter's two brothers led to his recommendation that the young man be released, but declared that the police have no right to hold him, having no evidence of any tangible nature. He asserted that he practically held Parker in personal contempt and that if he were responsible for the girl's condition he should be punished, although there is no provision of law which could reach him.

In defending his action in releasing Parker, Fickert says that he will be immediately taken into custody again if any citizen desires to make a charge against him, or if it be positively proved that he was responsible for Eva Swan's condition.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—New light was thrown on the suicide of Rev. Arthur W. Little, pastor of St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Evanston, last night, when it became known that he had been compelled to take treatment in a sanatorium at Neenah, Wis., for three weeks last January.

The letter which was found on Dr. Little's writing desk read:

"Something has broken in my brain. I told the doctor and the clergymen and they would not believe me. But it is true. The wireless clothesline is broken. God have mercy."
(Signed) "A. W. LITTLE."
"Oh, my poor wife! Be good to her."
Sentence Unexplained.

The sentence, "The wireless clothesline is broken," is unexplained.

"He was by far the finest Latin scholar in the diocese," said the Rev. E. T. Summer, dean of the cathedral of Saints Peter and Paul, "and in my opinion one of the most refined, cultured clergymen I have had. Personally he was charming, a real 'thoroughbred' in every day life."

"I have seen a great change in him in the last few years since the illness of his wife, and I know he has been more and more despondent of late, though I never had any expectation of this shocking end."

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Federal officers descended today upon the offices of B. F. Sheffels and Company, curb brokers, on Broad street, and placed several persons under arrest. Among them was B. F. Sheffels, head of the firm. The prisoners were taken away in a patrol wagon.

RENO, Nev., Sept. 29.—B. F. Sheffels, whose offices in several cities were raided today by the government, is said to have been composed of the same persons who operated in this city during the mining boom under the corporation name of Nat C. Goodwin and Company.

Girl Builds Pyre of Bible
Pages; Burns to Death

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 29.—Kneeling in the midst of a bonfire which she had made of pages of religious books and magazines and saturated with coal oil by her own hand, Marie McCarthy, 18 years of age, slowly burned to death in the rear of her home, number 8522 Water street, yesterday afternoon, while she prayed.

The girl's action was not a sudden inspiration. She apparently had waited until an unguarded moment to carry out her fanatical act. The Bible, magazines and papers with which she made the bonfire were taken from a center table in the living room, where she had been sewing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—A wrong thing she possessed to her husband. At the same time he made a will bequeathing his estate to relatives and making Charles A. King and Joseph Gallagher executors.

Thirty-seven days later Martin F. Fragley died and his wife Sarah is now practically penniless. She has begun suit to regain possession of the property.

GLEN PIKE BEFORE POLICE INQUISITORS

Boy Who Knew of Eva Swan Tragedy Sternly Questioned by the Detectives

turned out satisfactorily to Pike. Gordon separated from him at Weed less than a month ago and the fact that he believed to have been in a measure in the doctor's confidence after he had learned of the details of Eva Swan's death, leads the police to place a great deal of dependence upon him as an important link in their chain of evidence against the malpractitioner.

The release of Paul Percy Parker after being in custody for three days and sweating and grilled by the police more than any other prisoner arrested as a suspect for a long time past, and the verdict of the coroner's jury identifying the gruesome remains from the Eureka street house as those of Eva Swan, and charging Dr. Robert Thompson, alias Grant with malpractice and murder, were the features of yesterday in the investigation of the tragedy.

PARKER WITHIN REACH.

It was with an unwillingness that the department released Parker on the recommendation of District Attorney Fickert, but he was warned that he must be on hand when needed, and although Detective Werry denies that he is shadowing him, he declares that he will be here when his evidence is needed in the police court.

The coroner's jury, after listening attentively to the harrowing story of the mutilation of the body of Eva Swan, the ghastly facts surrounding the placing of it in a pit and the bathing of the dead body with acid, as well as the tale of the last agonies of the girl as she lay in the improvised hospital in Dr. Thompson's quarters, returned a recommendation deploring the awfulness of the crimes committed under the guise and protection of the office of a physician and surgeon.

RESPONSIBILITY NOT FIXED.

The jury, however, strange as it may seem in the face of the evidence of Marie Messerschmidt, the nurse, and of Parker himself, who was nervous and excited on the stand, failed to make any mention of the latter whatever. Like the police, the jury were in a measure uncertain as to where to fix the responsibility for Eva Swan's condition. The verdict was devoid of any sensational testimony that had not already been brought out from the admissions made by the various persons concerned in their statements to the police. The verdicts of Dr. Thompson to Gordon, his denial of his identity to the detectives, and the calm and cold-blooded manner in which he had deliberately saved through the ankles of the girl in the victim, when brought out in the evidence, caused the audience to gasp with amazement and astonishment.

PHYSICIAN SILENT.

Through it all Thompson sat silent. He refused to make any statement at the request after being instructed by the jury that he might say what he used against him.

A new mystery was injected into the proceedings when it was learned that in the description of Eva Swan left at the coroner's office when she was reported missing the word "brunette" was put in. The writing is not that of any of the coroner's officers, and Parker avers that the girl was a decided blonde and that he never could have mistaken her as a brunette. It is admitted that the affidavits made out at his office are available for anyone to look over, and for some designing person, anxious that searchers be put on the wrong trail, should insert the misleading word, while no one was looking.

Coroner Waddy himself was convinced after listening to all the testimony not only that Dr. Thompson should be held for murder, but also that a recommendation should be made for drastic action to be taken against malpractitioners by their criminal trade and flaunting their signs before the public.

Pike Tells of Money Paid Boys by Thompson

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Pike's statement made to the detectives after repeated questioning, is almost precisely the same as that made by Bernard Gordon, who revealed the details of the tragedy to him. He tells of the conversation of himself and Gordon and their following Dr. Thompson and Miss Messerschmidt to Highland Springs.

Then it was that Pike had his first conversation with the doctor and told him that Saack had revealed that there was something doing at Eureka street, and that the three of them had gone out there and started digging, but were held back by the odor.

"I stopped the boys from going any further," Pike said to the physician, "and they think there is something wrong there, and I think there are a couple of rabbits (little babies) in there, and the best thing you can do is to ship the boys east where their homes are," and the doctor replied: "haven't got the money to do that now, but in a couple of weeks or a month I may be able to do something for them."

According to Pike, the physician explained that he would have $50,000 more circulars to distribute. He also told him that he had better rent the Eureka street house for another month, but he didn't give them the money to pay for it, and so no move was made in that direction. Later when Pike again met the doctor in this city, he demanded $100 for each of them to ship them east, but the physician said he didn't have the coin and gave them only $50.

The last time he called on Dr. Thompson at the Golden Gate avenue house he was told that he was away and replied that he didn't want to see him, but was only asking after his health, whereupon, he says, Marie Messerschmidt replied: "You don't want to see him."

That is all that Pike will admit to knowing about the entire affair. He heard the details of the operation upon Eva Swan and the story of the burying of the body from Gordon, but no mention of those facts were made, he claims, between himself and Dr. Thompson.

MURDER CHARGE PLACED AGAINST DR. THOMPSON

The following is the charge placed against Dr. Thompson yesterday by the Coroner's jury:

We, the jury, empaneled to determine the cause of death of Eva Claire Swan, find:

First—That the body is the body of Eva C. Swan.

Second—That said Eva C. Swan came to her death as the result of a criminal operation to produce abortion.

Third—That said operation was performed by Dr. Thompson, alias Grant.

Fourth—We therefore charge the said Dr. Thompson, alias Grant, with murder.

Fifth—We, the jury, recommend that steps be taken by the proper authorities to stop malpractice, so common in this city at present, and also the display of signs and other means of advertising this criminal practice of abortion.

Signed:

Hjalvor Jacobson, foreman, J. M. Lettich, George F. Palmer, R. Wolden, W. R. Bacon, C. J. Vasey, Joseph Springer, Henry Peters, H. F. Hunt.

WRIGHT PUPIL IN 186-MILE FLIGHT

Makes Successful Voyage and Stops Only Once to Replenish Oil.

route business was suspended as the air machine passed above them.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Walt r Brookings, in the Wright biplane "Hawk," started at 9:23 o'clock this morning for Springfield, Ill., 131 miles away, in an effort to break the long-distance sustained flight record of the country. A hundred thousand persons cheered the aviator on his way.

His destination was the state fair grounds at Springfield and its object the winning of the Chicago Record-Herald prize of $10,000. Brookings said he intended to sail high to avoid the treacherous air currents.

Full of Confidence

The aviator's successful exhibition flights were Tuesday and Wednesday gave him confidence in his machine. He left the ground without difficulty, circled to test his machine, and then shot away like a homing pigeon to the southwest in the direction of the State capital.

His last words were spoken to Wilbur Wright, inventor of the air craft:

"Good-bye, Mr. Wright. I'll see you in Springfield," he said.

Half an hour later the Record-Herald special train, crowded with interested spectators, started in pursuit of the aviator.

Travels Fast

Brookings passed over Eysington, 12 miles from Chicago, at 3:35, and at 9:45 sped over the suburb of Harvey, 19 miles distant.

He was flying about 2100 feet high and at about the rate of 50 miles an hour.

The country roads and fields were dotted everywhere with people witnessing the flight.

The Wright biplane, 34 miles from Chicago, was passed at 10 o'clock. The aviator was flying steadily at about 40 miles an hour. The special train was 18 miles behind him.

33 Miles an Hour

The biplane passed over Pectone, 40 miles distant, at 10:22 a. m. and over Maton, five miles farther on, at 10:45. It was averaging 33 miles an hour. Officially, about 33 miles an hour. Tucker, 50 miles from Chicago, was passed at 10:42.

Brookings passed over Kankakee at 10:50. Business was suspended in the town as the aeroplane, moving apparently at the rate of 5 miles an hour, passed high above the streets.

When the aeroplane passed over Otto, 60 miles from Chicago, at 11 o'clock, it was flying at a height of about 2000 feet. The special train following Brookings had not yet sighted the machine, but as the aviator had maintained an average speed of about 35 miles an hour since his start it was expected he would be overtaken shortly.

69 Miles Out

Chebanz, 64 miles from Chicago, was passed at 11:08 and in five minutes later he was over Clinton, 68 miles from Chicago. At Askaun, 4 miles farther on the route, which he passed at 11:23, Brookings had descended to a height of about 1500 feet.

At Danforth, 77 miles from Chicago, was passed at 11:31. Wilbur Wright had told Brookings before the start that if his oil ran short he should descend at Gilman, which is the next town on his route.

At Danforth he had descended to a level of about 400 to 500 feet.

Stops for Oil
Brookings stopped at Gilman for oil at 11:38. The stop precludes the making of a record for his sined flight as Gilman is but 81 miles from the center of Chicago and 78 miles from

RUNNING MATE OF JOHNSON TALKS AT BERKELEY

A. J. Wallace Says Triumph at the Polls is Now Assured.

STATE PLATFORM IN INTEREST OF PEOPLE

Praises Direct Primary, Which He Believes Will Overthrow Tammany.

BERKELEY, Sept. 29.—The opening meeting of the state campaign in the district was held at the U. S. No. 10 skating rink in Berkeley last night, when A. J. Wallace, candidate for the office of Lieutenant-Governor, and Lee C. Gates, the Los Angeles attorney and politician, who has been several times mentioned for gubernatorial honors, were the principal speakers.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the newly-organized Johnson-Wallace Republican Club of the Fifty-second assembly district. A fair-sized crowd was present and followed the addresses of the speakers closely.

Judge William H. Waste presided. In a short introductory speech Waste called attention to the qualities which have earned Johnson and Wallace the right to lead the Republican party in the campaign. He then introduced Wallace, mentioning the work the candidate has done while a member of the city council in Los Angeles, as well as in other public offices he has filled.

CAMPAIGN WORTH WHILE.

Wallace then said: "This campaign during the last five months, leading up to the primaries, August 16, has been abundantly worth while. I am sure that the voters of Berkeley will think that it has been worth while. For the last five months Edwin Johnson has carried the banner of his party throughout the State of California, preaching the doctrine of the freedom of the people, and now, with the approach of the election, Governor Leland, the people of Berkeley should set an example to the country."

"We are proud of your city, and proud of its unity. Berkeley stands for the highest ideals of citizenship, and can set a better example than by giving the Johnson a practically unanimous vote in this city."

PEOPLE AGAINST INTERESTS.

"Nothing is worth while unless it helps humanity. The greatest thing in the world is the greatest help to humanity. It is a contest of the people against great interests and corporations; it is the fight of man against property."

"Our triumph is ultimately assured, for we are on the side of humanity, as against property, which, as Theodore Roosevelt has said, should be an adjunct to, and subservient to man."

Wallace then took up the platform of the state Republican party, and declared that every clause had in view the interests of the people as opposed to the great corporations, which he praised highly the direct primary, saying:

"The direct primary law is proving a boon to the Republic. It has gained only after a hard fight throughout the state. Through it the people can free themselves from the domination of the great corporations, and are going to govern themselves in the future."

"The direct primary will mean the overthrow of Tammany, the biggest and vilest political machine in the history of the world."

FORGET LINCOLN DOCTRINES.

"Roosevelt's victory over Sherman in New York, which is told of in today's newspapers, shows the result of the movement to bring back to the Republican party its true principles. In great part the development of the country the doctrines of Lincoln have been somewhat forgotten, and the Republican party is now regaining its own."

Lee C. Gates was then introduced, and said:

"This so-called insurgent movement is nation-wide. It is a party fight and a party contest, the outcome of which will show that the people are the servants of the people and that the principles of the Republican party will still live."

"The development of the United States, this greatest and grandest of all lands, the fundamental principles of the Republic have been forgotten. We have been more concerned with the making of wealth and the development of great natural resources and have overlooked the principles of liberty for which our forefathers fought in 1776."

REGULATION OF WEALTH.

"Now our one national problem is the regulation of this great wealth which is in the hands of a few interests and huge corporations. We must solve the question of the distribution of wealth and income. In many cases, taken the reins of government, and have given gained control of the country."

"The menhood of America must take hold of this problem. We must return to the government where every individual will have the same power and the same influence as every other individual. The day of the boss has gone and the day of the voter has arrived."

"Formerly the candidates of the state have been picked by the candidates and we marched with banners and cast our votes for them. But now the direct primary has shown that the nomination is the thing, and that the people, not the boss, shall select the men who will run for office."

Gates then called attention to the fact that the Republicans of the state had selected the candidates of the party up to the members of the party, so Edwin Johnson and Wallace to lead them. They have selected a good and able man and one who will fulfill every promise made. It is believed that the people will elect him and we want him elected by a big majority."

Washington Park, the actual starting point of the flight.

French Aviators Ready for Meet

PARIS, Sept. 29.—The French aviation cracks are turning up for the American meet and the thoroughness of their preparations betrays a determination to bring back to France the international trophy which Glenn H. Curtiss won at Reims a year ago. At that time the American covered 1242 miles in 15 minutes 50 3/8 seconds establishing a world's speed record.

The team selected is made up of Alfred Le Blanc, Hubert Latham and Leon Morane. Each is putting the finishing touches on an especially built monoplane. Le Blanc tried out today his new Bleriot model equipped with two coupled 50-horsepower revolving Gnome motors.

Latham has been practicing with his new 100-horsepower flyer and is said to have attained a speed of about 70 miles an hour.

The international cup must be won three times in succession to become the property of any club. The coming competition will be the second of the series, with the advantage of the first victory resting with the Aero Club of America.

GOVERNMENT IS TO TRANSFER BRIDGES IN 8 MONTHS

County Clerk Cook Hears From Brigadier-General C. E. L. B. Davis.

County Clerk John P. Cook received a letter this morning from Brigadier-General Charles E. L. B. Davis, U. S. A., in charge of the war department's engineer office at San Francisco, to the effect that in all probability eight months will elapse before the government formally transfers to the county of Alameda the three tidal canals bridges, in conformity with the agreement ratified by the board of supervisors at its last meeting.

Numerous inquiries by people throughout the county as to the time of the transfer prompted the county clerk to seek first hand information from the chief of the engineer's office in San Francisco, and his letter brought the following reply from General Davis:

"War Department, Engineer's Office, U. S. Army, San Francisco Cal., Sept. 28, 1910.

DAVIS' LETTER.

"Mr. John P. Cook, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County, Oakland, California.

"Sir: With reference to your letter of September 27, 1910, in regard to control and maintenance of the three tidal canals bridges, I have to state that specifications for the installation of electric machinery on these bridges have been prepared and forwarded to Washington for approval. Millionaire Bradley Is Sued for Divorce

Wife Alleges He Choked Her and Said: "I Could Kill You."

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—Emma R. Bradley, the wife of Richard Bradley, the millionaire coal and mining man of this city, who resides at 227 Gough street, began suit for divorce this afternoon, charging extreme cruelty and asking for a month's alimony, a settlement of the community property and $1000 counsel fees.

The marriage of the couple in March, 1909, was a society event attended by the smart set on both sides of the bay and the couple were supposed to be devoted. On September 13, Mrs. Bradley alleges, her spouse choked her and said: "I could kill you." She also claims that she has been treated cruelly ever since she was married. Mrs. Bradley is a patron of art and engaged in a large amount of charitable work.

It is understood that there will be no contest of the action.

BUNGO MEN JUMP BAIL AND DEPART

Trio Who Purchased Confederate Bills Drop Out of Sight.

Captain of Detectives Peterson is lamenting that he was unable to place any heavier charge than that of vagrancy against three of the ten bungo men arrested this week by the police in Oakland. Fellows Kulesoff, Peter Vassilo and Frank Caragan, the men arrested when caught purchasing a big roll of thousands of dollars of Confederate bills, this morning jumped their bail and disappeared from Oakland.

The trio of confidence operators were arrested Monday by Detectives Drew, Quigley and Winton just after they had purchased the Confederate money. After being held two days in detentive penitentiary, they were charged with vagrancy, as no heavier charge could be placed against them on the evidence discovered.

They were released on $50 bail each, to appear before Judge Smith this morning. When failed to come before the court, thus forfeiting their bail, investigation has proved that they have left Oakland.

Roosevelt Stands With President Taft

The New York Republican State Convention, in which Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was a dominant factor, yesterday adopted the following endorsement of President Taft as part of their platform:

"We enthusiastically endorse the patriotic and statesmanlike leadership of William Howard Taft and declare our pride in the achievements of his first eighteen months as President of the United States. Each succeeding month since his inauguration has confirmed the nation in its high estimate of his greatness of character, intellectual ability, sturdy common sense, extraordinary patience and perseverance, broad and statesmanlike comprehension of public questions and unflinching and unswerving adherence to duty.

"He has strengthened our prestige with foreign nations and treated with vigor and wisdom important international problems, notably our tariff relations with Germany, France and Canada.

"Under his administration the prosecution of those implicated in the sugar and other customs frauds have been continued and convictions obtained; there have been impartial and energetic enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust acts; a substantial reduction of governmental expenses, the establishment of better business methods, which will result in greater efficiency and real economy; remarkable progress in the construction of the Panama canal and the withdrawal from private entry of over 71,000,000 acres of the public domain to preserve for public benefit, valuable and other mineral deposits, timber land and water power sites.

"On his recommendation Congress has provided for a commission to investigate and report on the regulation of the issuance of stocks and bonds by public service corporations engaged in interstate commerce. He has advocated a new system of appropriation for river and harbor improvements under which each item, after investigation by experts, shall be approved and carried to completion as a separate measure. This recommendation we heartily endorse."

The New York Republican platform endorses President Taft in the warmest terms, without qualification or equivocation. Not only is the President given the highest praise but the new tariff law is commended precisely as Taft has commended it. In short, the Saratoga convention has declared for the administration with enthusiasm and without reservation.

This declaration is significant because the convention was dominated by Theodore Roosevelt. Colonel Roosevelt not only appointed the committee on resolutions, but he assisted personally in framing the platform. Hence it is a reflection of his views and an authoritative statement of his attitude toward Taft and the administration. It is therefore a complete exposure of the hollow pretense urged by enemies of the administration that their attacks on the President had the sanction of Roosevelt. "We enthusiastically endorse the patriotic and statesmanlike leadership of William Howard Taft, and declare our pride in the achievements of his first eighteen months as President of the United States" is what Theodore Roosevelt and his followers in New York have to say about the President.

Contrast that ringing, whole-hearted declaration with the stilted and qualified endorsement of Taft expressed in the California Republican convention, a convention that hesitated to call itself Republican and which expressed no pride in the history and achievements of the Republican party. The new masters of the Republican party of this State praised Roosevelt to the skies and mentioned Taft only as a foil to the greatness of his predecessor. Hence the President is practically ignored in the Republican campaign now being waged in this State. His name is scarcely mentioned on the stump, and the newspapers which have labeled themselves Lincoln-Roosevelt openly sneer at Taft and speak of his administration in a tone of deprecation and apology.

There is no note of deprecation or apology in Colonel Roosevelt's endorsement of the President. His high patriotism and statesmanlike qualities are applauded, and his achievements are approved in the warmest terms. This is what Roosevelt says. It shows that the men who are stabbing the administration in the back in this State are not acting under Roosevelt's direction nor in accordance with his views. They laud La Follette as representing true Republican ideals and as a champion of the Roosevelt policies.

Contrast the Wisconsin platform framed by La Follette with the platform Roosevelt presented in New York. The La Follette platform is a slap at the President and a repudiation of the Payne-Aldrich law. Here is what Colonel Roosevelt says about that measure:

"The Payne tariff law reduced the average rate of all duties 11 per cent. By increasing the duties on some luxuries and articles not of ordinary use, making, however, no increase on any common food product, it turned a national deficit into a surplus. Under its first year of operation, the value of imports free of duty was the greatest in our history by $100,000,000, and the average rate of duty was less than under the Wilson law.

"Unlike that Democratic law, its great reductions of duty have not stopped industry nor deprived labor of any part of its hire. It gives free trade with the Philippine islands and it establishes a customs court. Its maximum rates give us the first time equality of opportunity with other nations in our foreign trade. In providing, upon the suggestion of President Taft, for a tariff board, it affords the means of still more accurately determining the difference in cost of production at home and abroad."

This is an emphatic contradiction of the representation that Roosevelt is the real leader of insurgency, and that he is at war with the policy of his successor in the White House. Having heartily commended the President himself, Colonel Roosevelt gives the new tariff law as warm an approval as Taft gave it in his Winona speech. It is, therefore, a repudiation of La Follette and Cummins and Murdock, in so far as they are fighting Taft and the Payne-Aldrich tariff act.

The Republican campaign all over the country will now be tuned to the note sounded by Roosevelt at Saratoga. It is the note of true Republicanism, of party loyalty and fidelity to principle. It is a note of accord between Taft and his predecessor. It draws a clear line between true Republicanism and the spurious brand that is being exploited in California, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kansas. It is the spirit of party pride, of reverence for the deeds and achievements which have made the party puissant as a moral and political force and immortalized the men who led it to victory in the past. It does not cry peccavi and plead repentance for past iniquity as a claim to future trust. It is no abjuration of party principle, no declaration of apostasy, no confession of shame and perjury.

On the contrary, it expresses the honor in which Republicans hold their leaders of today and the reverence in which they hold the leaders who have passed away. In appealing to the future it holds fast to the glory of the past. The Republican party of Taft and Roosevelt is still the party of Lincoln, Grant, Garfield and McKinley, still the party of great moral ideas. It is an emphatic denial of the contention that sincere moral purpose can be evidenced only by abandoning the principles which have conserved human liberty and human progress and adopting the fallacies of populism and pleading guilty to the crimes imputed to the Republican party by Democratic politicians.

Colonel Roosevelt is a party man, a believer in Republican principles and a firm advocate of government by party agencies. He believes in party loyalty and party regularity. He believes in President Taft and the policies Taft stands for. He has spoken in the Saratoga platform.

But where does this leave the malcontents and revolutionaries who are trying to Bryanize and disrupt the Republican party, and who have been striking at the Republican President over Roosevelt's shoulders? However, it makes the issue plain, and brings the Republican party back into line behind Taft and the administration. By necessary implication it is a rebuke to the men who are seeking personal advancement by disorganizing the Republican party and charging a Republican administration with betraying the people. It shows that Roosevelt is standing with Taft and the Republican majority in Congress. It is a heartening message to the Republican hosts throughout the country.

At Saratoga Teddy showed that he was something of a standpatter himself. He stood pat for Taft and the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. Will the Los Angeles Express and the Fresno Republican now read him out of the party?

Colonel Roosevelt's candidate for Governor was given the nomination in New York. His chief competitor was William S. Bennett, the only insurgent member of Congress from New York. The old guard presented Bennett, but the Colonel would have none of him. He said he had a genuine regard for Mr. Bennett, but he placed in nomination Henry L. Stimpson, who is a Taft man, and not an insurgent.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS

The report of the British Board of Trade on railway accidents in the United Kingdom during the year 1909 shows that only one passenger was killed in an accident in a train in which he was traveling, and it was the first fatality for twenty preceding months.

The number of passengers injured while traveling was 350, which is a lower average than for several years past. As 1,264,000,000 passengers were carried during 1909, the death record may be said to be marvellously small.

By accidents to passengers from other causes—falling between trains and platforms, etc., directly traceable to personal carelessness and disobedience of orders, the deaths were 82 and 248 injured. During the year 1909 the losses from similar accidents were 192 killed and 2242 injured. In addition, of this list 11 passengers were killed and 332 injured from causes not connected with the movement of trains, such as being struck by railway hand trucks, used by porters in moving luggage, express merchandise, etc.

The number of railway employees killed by accidents to trains was 18 and 28 injured. Regarding the casualties to railway employees in the latter class of accidents, the total number of men exposed to danger was one in seventy, which proportion works out in average 1 out of the period of the past ten years. LAWYERS EVER STUDYING

The study of law is long. Work hard as he may, the lawyer will be studying until he dies. He will be studying human society from its crude beginnings, in its industries, its commerce, its needs, its possibilities, its weaknesses, its great ideals—now lapsing back, now sweeping on—down to the present day. And the present day is as wide as the world.

The young man will find much that is perplexing in this study of the law. And long before he has finished his studies—which is to say, long before he dies—he intends to go into politics and apply what he has begun to learn. And this he will find more perplexing still. For the books he has read will be placed upon shelves, and the human interests of the day will clash and clamor around him. At first they will seem chaotic and blind. But year by year, if his mind be keen, he will discern in all these interests two main tides drawing him in opposite ways.

On the one hand, as in his boyhood, wealth will make its claim and offer its great prizes. On the other, the mass of the people will make claims and offer prizes too. And though he retains his integrity, his purpose to serve the common good, he will find that in each case he must decide anew, for the claims of wealth will often appeal to him as right, and the claims of the mass of the people will often seem to him unwise.

What will be his record? When he has finished all his study—which is to say, when he dies—what pages will he have helped to add to those ponderous books of law? Will he have worked for himself or the whole, for the size of the fees or the good of the cause? Not even this man himself can tell.—Success.

MEANING OF AUTUMN

According to the astronomers, autumn begins "about the 21st of September." Evidently the New York climate knows nothing of astronomy. Neither, for that matter, do the cornucopias, agents and janitors of apartment houses. The time is coming when you will frantically telephone for some heat in the early morning and your wife will tearfully implore to have it turned off again two hours later. You will leave your overcoat, or wear it and wish that you had left it at home. You will sniff with invigorated approval the bracing autumn air, square your shoulders and walk two stations beyond the nearest one for pure joy of living and exercise.

Dwellers in the Borough of Richmond will soon begin again to look out of the window for sea fogs and regulate their hours of departure accordingly, but often they will enjoy the crystalline clearness of the atmosphere of one of the most beautiful days in the world, the play of its dancing waters, the beauty of its sunbeams beyond smoking Bayonne, the fairyland of towering New York, with its myriad lights twinkling in the dusk of the evening, or rising like Camelot out of a veil of white mist to welcome them at the beginning of the day.

This is the season of ocean records, now monopolized by sister ships, "and the rest nowhere." It is a season of reawakening alertness, mental and physical; the prelude to Indian summer, the season of brisk walking tours amid the glory of the turning of the leaves.

Nature in the fullness of her final beauty lies all around us, accessible east and west and north and south, but all too often do we neglect her. The moment the city in which we dwell has become comfortable again. All hail to autumn, bringing a foretaste of the joy of the North, of the tonic air that is more beneficial, more intoxicating, than the dewy wines of the children of the South! All these delights are coming, surely coming, even though the New York climate knows nothing of astronomy and its mathematical computation of the beginning of autumn.—New York Tribune.

SHORT SERMONS

Faith is not preserved by embalming it in ancient verbiage. It is always tomorrow's burden that breaks the back of today. Faith is often the sense for facts as seen above all fallacies. Some get so anxious over impending storms that they shut out all present sunlight. There is a lot of difference between seeing to do and doing in order to be seen. Many who fear to walk under a ladder use one quickly enough to climb over a law. The best way to meet some foes is to lay them out first and argue with them afterwards. Few things make us more zealous against moles than the possession of good sized beams. Nothing will cure your own spiritual ailments quicker than care for another fellow's real needs. If faces are tickets to heaven it will take a long journey before some saints are admitted to happiness. The sense of the sinfulness of the world is often only the feeling that every one must be sick because I do not feel well.—Henry P. Cope.

Eyes Unto the Hills

By REV. F. L. GOODSPEED.
First Presbyterian Church.

Ps. 121:1. I will lift up my eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help.

One trouble with all our thinking is that we do not look high enough, we do not see things in their largeness and divineness. Sailing down "rough the Straits of Messina" once, I remember we long staid our eyes for a view of Mt. Aetna, the loftiest volcano in Europe, standing in thousands of feet into the sky. But to our disappointment, Sicily was wrapped in a haze we could not penetrate. Aetna was thirty miles away. We knew the general direction, but she had apparently wrapped herself in an impenetrable veil. After we had strained our glasses for a long time upon the bank of cloud that obscured the horizon, and were about to give over the attempt in despair, some one on deck cried out, "Look above the clouds!" And sure enough there in the upper regions, towering above earth and sea and mist in its snowy crown, stood the majestic Aetna, all in white, stood Aetna. It was a rapturous and glorious surprise. And the same contains a pertinent lesson. Let the great mountain be your school-master.

Rev. F. L. Goodspeed.

CHRIST STANDS ABOVE ALL DOGMAS.

For myself, I have taken my stand beside the Divine Master. He knew. There is no note of uncertainty in anything He said. His character and His cross confirm His message. Experience and history are also proofs. And so amid all perplexing problems and antagonistic theories I have determined to stand or fall with Him. If He was mistaken, we have no revelation, and no certainty whatever. If He is right, then the theories, they cannot last, they cannot prevail, they cannot conquer. For Christ stands above all dogmas and all systems and all theories and all isms and fads whatsoever, as Aetna stood that day above the low-lying mists at its base, robed in glorious white.

A still life by Jan van Eyck in the museum at The Hague was recently injured, but it is believed that the perpetrator was neither vandal nor thief. The picture represents a basket of fruit on which a number of insects have gathered. On a pale yellow apple which is the centerpiece in the cluster of fruit is a large fly, painted so true to nature, so say the officials of the gallery, that the canvas was injured by some one who endeavored to "shoot" it and brought his cane or hand too close to the canvas. A tribute to the painter's genius," says the letter recording the fact, "for which the work had to suffer."

She met Davis on a train between this city and Stockton. She and Davis became acquainted. Davis fell in love with her and called at her uncle's home in Berkeley, where she was living at the time, proposed marriage and was accepted. When the time to perform the marriage ceremony arrived, it was discovered that the woman was a Catholic and would be married by no person save a priest. Davis was an agnostic and would be married by no person of any religious persuasion. He then proposed a marriage contract and to this the woman agreed and a contract marriage took place in the presence of the uncle of the woman. The contract is in the hands of Davis' attorney who says that their client will fight the case.

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this. Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves and thus encourage them to multiply. CORPSE TRAVELS ON RAILWAY PASS Widow Refuses to Pay Freight Because Husband Alive Traveled Free.

ST. ALBERT, Sept. 28.—Assuming that her dead husband was just as much entitled to travel on a free pass as when he was alive, Mrs. John Chadwick, of Black Bay on the Hood canal, staggered to the State of Washington by refusing to pay freight on his corpse when she had brought to the vessel for shipment a Seattle passenger. Her husband had a free pass on the State of Washington when he was alive, she said to Puget Sound, and no one is going to prevent her traveling on it when he is dead. Mrs. Chadwick had placed her husband's body in his coffin on the steamship and the purser hesitated to order it put ashore, when she refused to pay charges. She reasoned with the purser, telling her that she really ought to pay the regular charges and much as she personally would like to oblige her by allowing the corpse free passage, a purser had no latitude in the matter. A child was rapidly approaching when Purcell decided to let the higher officials of the company settle the matter, which was done by the Seattle passenger agent for the Puget Sound navigation company. An examination of the records satisfied Miller that Chadwick, who had a lumber tract at Black Bay, held a valid pass. When Purcell read the freight agent's reply telegram, let the corpse travel free and collect pass, the widow knew a sign of relief and said she knew she would win.

Far East and Wild West to Meet In Same Arena in Oakland

SPLENDOR OF THE ORIENT WILL BE SHOWN

SAHARA DESERT TO BE ONE OF THE SCENES

Western Spectacle Will Afford a Contrast: Colonel Cody Coming.

An exhibition of contrasts will be the Far East and Wild West performance given by Col. Cody and Major Lillie in this city. Both sides of the world will be shown in the same arena representative of many tribes and various types will be seen and there will be displays of customs and costumes, comprehensive and world-wide in diversity.

An Oriental spectacle will be particularly bright in color and attractive in presentation, being a combination of open-air pantomime and pageantry. The scene will show the Pyramids and Sphinx, with a vista of the Sahara Desert. A band of Bedouin bandits are camped. To the away the time the Sheikh of the tribe has ordered that an entertainment be given to the captives, and the arena is immediately made bright with the grandeur of an Oriental pageant. Troops of Arabs in native garb, elephants and camels, richly caparisoned horses and chariots, and a long procession of many tribes in brilliant costumes assemble in the arena.

Then begins an entertainment, strictly Oriental in all of its make-up. Hindu fakirs, Arabian acrobats, Japanese jugglers and many men of brown and jet-black display their skill in various lines of amusement. As a special and particularly feature of this portion of the Far East program, Pasha's Musical Elephants will be introduced in a specialty both unique and entertaining. These marvelously trained mammals play various musical instruments, such as bells, blow horns, pump organs, and dance the minuet, accompanied in all of their various feats by four beautifully gowned young ladies. This brief description in no manner gives a full idea of the Oriental spectacle, but simply outlines the scene and what is to be accomplished.

The contract to the Far East number will be found in an abundant variety of and personally directed by Col. Wm. F. Cody, the original and only Buffalo Bill, who positively appears at every performance, no matter what the weather, when he will make his last appearance in the saddle before our citizens—a regretful goodbye.

PORTLAND CENSUS UNDER SUSPICION

Government Sends Inspector to Check Up Work of Enumerator.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 23.—Urban H. Heister, special representative of the director of the census, is in Portland and for the next thirty days will be engaged in checking the report of Supervisor Beach, covering the enumeration of the Second Congressional district, with special reference to the report on the population of Portland.

Heister says he desires it to be understood at the outset that no complaints have been made, or received, of irregularities in the reports. However, he has caused the department to desire a verification of the schedules.

"I have just reached the city and I do not know yet what my course will be," said Heister at his office yesterday. "I do not want to indicate that there is any fault to be found with the report sent by Supervisor Beach. There were certain things in some reports, however, of which the department needed verification."

It is Heister's purpose to secure the assistance of some of the enumerators and his inspectors who worked for Supervisor Beach and with them check up the doubtful districts.

Portland is not the only city to be selected to this checking process," said Heister. "Seattle and Los Angeles returns are also to be checked in the near future, with possibly those of one or two other coast cities."

TOM'S EXPERIENCE.

One morning in June Tom Brown, the only boy of the Brown family, was up bright and early. He had a good reason to be up early because on that very morning he was going to start on a camping trip with his father. All their camping outfit was safely stowed away in the small camp wagon, which Tom's father had purchased for Tom himself.

"They started about 6:30 a. m. and by sunset were pretty well tired out, so Mr. Brown suggested that they get their camp stove and their sleeping apparatus, which consisted of a roll of blankets, out, and prepare to spend the night where they were."

All during the night Tom imagined he heard strange sounds in the thicket near by and at about 12 o'clock he started up sharply. His heart was beating like a trip hammer, but it was only Roger, his old hunting dog, who was rubbing his cold nose on Tom's hand and whining.

"Heater go, without waking his father, he stealthily lit a lantern and with his gun, and followed closely by Roger, he made his way through the brush to where he heard or thought he heard, a faint scratching."

Suddenly he saw two green eyes flashing like fire, glaring at him. Tom aimed and fired. The animal, or whatever it was, growled and fled.

The next morning Tom told his father of his experience and eight after breakfast they followed the tracks in the soft earth of what they thought was a grizzly bear, and sure enough, lying by a log by the stream lay Tom's enemy of the night before, as dead as a door nail, as the expression goes.

FETE IS PLANNED AT PIEDMONT SCHOOL

Purpose Is to Obtain Funds for the Purchase of Lantern Slides.

The members of the faculty of the Piedmont school are awaiting for the consent of the board of education to authorize R. S. Wheeler, principal of the school, to have a fete on the school grounds to raise money for lantern slides with which to illustrate lessons for the children and athletic equipment for the school yard.

Last year a fete was given and with the proceeds of the affair interesting slides were purchased and are now being used in the school. A great deal of money for more of the slides, as Wheeler has stated that the old ones are serving their purpose well, but there must be an additional stock as the work requires it. The members of the children of that school will act as patronesses and will give their co-operation to the function. The members of the Piedmont Improvement Club will also take an interest in the fete and will work for its success.

Devotion of Dog For Sick Master Results in Death

A letter received here this morning from Charles A. Ellingworth, a resident of Oakland, tells a strange but pretty story of the devotion of a dumb animal to his master.

Dandy was only a dog, but love for his master, who was sick, and a faithful vigil that he kept up in front of his sick master's door, caused the death of the faithful animal.

Several weeks ago Ellingworth was taken very ill. Dandy, a beautiful Pomeranian, couldn't imagine why his master didn't whistle to him to join in his early morning walk. He was deeply loved and tried to all came. Then he whined and scratched at the door until it was opened. Wagging his tail and dancing with joy, he rushed into the room. There he lay down beside his master and curled up on the bed. His face didn't look the same and no loving hand reached out to pet him, for his master was too sick to get up.

The dog walked from the room and curled up on the floor outside the door. For days and days he lay there, refusing to eat and growling when any one came near him. All those who had to go into the sickroom had to step over the dog.

Suddenly Dandy changed his position and took up his vigil outside the window of his master's room. He stayed there for days. He would not eat, although he was coaxed by the sick man's family.

Finally, exhausted from the lack of food and the loss of his master's company, a few moments later he died.

When Ellingworth was well enough to be told about the tragic passing of his pet, almost a week into a relapse, he said Dandy had been almost inseparable and the dog's death under the circumstances affected him deeply.

Deaf, Dumb and Blind Girl Visits Governor

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 23.—Kathryn Mary Frick, the 10-year-old deaf, dumb and blind girl, who made a record of this morning upon Governor Edwin S. Stuart, by request, preparatory to returning to the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf and Blind at Mount Airy, where she will begin her second year of study.

Little Miss Frick was accompanied by Miss Julia A. Foley, her last visitor, who does nothing else but help Kathryn, who is deaf, dumb and blind, in addition to many things which it is not necessary for the normal to learn.

The party arrived at the capital at 11 o'clock in an automobile, this ride being a distinctly new experience for Kathryn. Today's call was the shortest Kathryn has ever made upon Governor Stuart, due to the fact that the day was an exceptionally busy one at the executive department. She brought her typewriter and gave an interesting exhibition of her cleverness in using the machine.

Miss Foley told Governor Stuart briefly of the remarkable progress which Kathryn is making and of her extraordinary bright mind and earnestness to learn.

Playgrounds Popular With Young Athletes

Boys and girls from all parts of the city are taking advantage of the playgrounds at De Fremery Park. From an early morning hour until dusk the young athletes are to be seen swinging, enjoying the basketball game or playing baseball.

There is a merry set of young people who congregate at De Fremery Park all day long and it has proved one of the most interesting playground resorts on the east side of the bay. Healthily exercised of all description is occupying the playground and the attention of the boys and girls of the De Fremery Park district.

"The spirit of play is manifesting itself among the children of De Fremery Park," said Robert Van Arsdale, superintendent of the boys' department of De Fremery Park. "They are learning how to play and when the new equipment from the East arrives there will be more diversion for the boys and girls, who are looking forward to the installation of the swing rings and other devices, which will be placed on the grounds. The grounds will be elevated and played before many weeks elapse and the playground park will be enlarged and made more attractive."

High School Plans New Debating League

There is a movement on foot to organize a debating league in the Oakland High School. At the present time there is the Senate Debating Society, which is composed of about fifty boys of the high school, which is divided into two parties, the "Fugates" and the "Regulars," who debate upon questions pertaining to school activities and also topics of the day. Only recently the Senate became factional and the division has been deemed by most of the students a waste of time and the boys say that it will keep lively subjects before the organization and will promote interest in up-to-date issues.

Nursery Rhymes Are Popular With Tots

Mother Goose's nursery rhymes and nursery songs, which have been laid out for the children for some time by order of the Board of Education, are in vogue again and are as popular in the public schools as they were before the childish tales were tabooed.

The nursery rhymes, which are dear to the hearts of the tots in the first grades of the schools, have been set to music and are sung as part of the school exercises. They enjoy the melodies and the instructors declare that the boys and girls consider them among the most interesting of the school studies.

The elimination of the tedious work of studying the alphabet after the old of studying the alphabet after the old of some years ago, which was supplanted by 78 words which the little ones learn to read by sight and express thoughts, which are implied in short stories, which are read by the teachers. They act the words that are read and place their own interpretation upon them. The sight words are combined in sentences.

The right reading has been one of the most successful lines of teaching introduced within recent years in the local schools and has proved an innovation. All the crude manners of the little ones are being curbed nowadays in the public schools and an effort is being made to mould the characters of the young to lead useful, kind and noble lives.

What is unable to think or speak, yet tells the truth to all the world? A pair of scales.

Instant Relief for Tender Feet

Sore Feet, Tender Feet and Swollen Feet Cured Every Time. TIZ Makes Sore Feet Well No Matter What Ails Them.

Police-men all over the world use TIZ. Police-men stand on their feet all day and know what sore, tender, swollen feet really mean. They use TIZ because TIZ cures the foot in five minutes. It keeps the foot in perfect condition. Read what this policeman has to say: "I was surprised and delighted with TIZ for tender feet. I hardly know how to thank you enough for it. It is superior to powder or plaster. I believe in my earnest gratitude for TIZ. I am a policeman in my city, my name is 'Emy Harrell, Austin, Texas."

You never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold. TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does it. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25c per box, or it will be sent you direct, if you wish, from Walter Lathrop, Druggist & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended and sold by The Owl Drug Co.

Danderine

Grows Hair and we can

PROVE IT!

DANDERINE is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It also once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

A lady from St. Paul writes in substance, as follows: "When I began using Danderine my hair would not come to my shoulders and now it is away below my hips."

Another from Newark, N. J.: "I have been using Danderine regularly when I first started to use it I had very little hair, now I have the most beautiful long and thick hair anyone would want to have."

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Danderine enjoys a greater sale than any other one preparation regardless of kind or brand, and it has a much greater sale than all of the other hair preparations in the world combined.

Free To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., Chicago, Ill. with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.

DECLARES HE WILL PROVE CHARGES AGAINST CLUB

L. L. Campbell Says There Is Evidence That Pigeon Club Is "Trust."

ANSWERS LETTER IN AN INTERVIEW

Says That Dr. Smythe Often Purchased Prize Winners From Him.

L. L. Campbell of East Oakland, who charged before the Board of Supervisors meeting Monday night that the California Pigeon Club was a "close corporation," adding its own members, said this morning that he would appear before the board personally at next Monday night's meeting and substantiate his charges. Campbell declared he would not have to be urged to attend, but said he would be there with plenty of evidence.

Campbell made the following statement regarding the controversy:

NOT THE FACTS.

"I would have made no reply to the letter of Dr. W. J. Smythe if he had confined himself to the facts, and true statements.

"At the time I did not know that the doctor was again a member of the club, as with him it was out again and in again. I have been informed that he was dropped by the club and then reinstated immediately after a show and at that time, or shortly after, elected president.

"He also states I was not allowed to become a member of the club. Many thanks for the honor. I have never made an application to this or any other club, although he and several others have often requested me to join.

WILL BE ON HAND.

"Now, as to compelling me to attend the meeting, he need not fear. I will be there and hope he will also. How many times he has borrowed birds and then showed them under his own name? Is this square for a fancier's or a sportsman's standpoint?

"He states I have not been able to get pigeons for judgment. He bought from me the Maltese hen pigeon which won first prize and special for the best pigeon in the show, his friend acting as judge.

"Why did he try so often to buy birds from me when I did not want to sell? At the same time he was generally willing to pay fair prices for birds he thought would do for others.

"He says the club intends getting a judge from Los Angeles or some other place. Good, but why has it not been done before?

VISITED ON COAST.

"Why did not they obtain the services of well known fancier and judge who was visiting the coast during one of their former shows, when they could have had the same for merely asking? Was it not because some members had selected their birds for one of their members to judge? Perhaps an outside judge or stranger to all would induce some of the members who dropped out to return and exhibit.

"He also states they have letters from England and other parts complimentary to the show. Now how do they know in England or other places of the inside working of the club? He also states that there has never been any judge employed. Why he has never heard of any having been judge? Their catalogues of 1908-09 advertise two judges and they were on the list of club members."

Campbell charges that James White, H. B. Whitman and C. B. Jennings were all members of the club while acting as judges for the show of 1908.

UNKNOWN HORSE SCORES AT ODDS OF 668 TO 1

PARIS, Sept. 29.—An unidentified owner of an unknown horse that had never started before scored a big coup at Mantes Laite yesterday. The owner gave his name as Dudesert. He started a horse called Lamanche in the Prix du Rhone race, worth $800. His horse was neglected in the betting but won without any trouble. Paris mutuels paid 6679 francs for every 10 francs invested. In other words, with American money, a $2 bet would pay $1335.80.

BIG BALLOON TO SOAR WITH 4 PASSENGERS

GIANT GAS BAG TO BE CHRISTENED ON FIELD

It Will Be Named "Diamond" by Miss Bonham Just Before Flight.

MANY WILL WATCH IT IN FIRST TRIP

Effort Will Be Made to Study Strength of the Air Currents.

Twenty-five members of the Pacific Aero club will come to Oakland Sunday afternoon to attend the ceremonies of christening the big balloon. The balloon, which will be christened "Diamond," will be launched from the aviation field at Sixty-third and Telegraph avenue at 2 o'clock bearing four passengers. The balloon, which will be under the direction of Dr. B. D. Baker, president of the Pacific Aero club, will be one of the principal characters in the ceremony, which will be under the direction of Dr. B. D. Baker, president of the Pacific Aero club. The opening address will be delivered by Councilman Harold Ewert, and the benediction will be given by Rev. Nelson E. Saunders.

PREPARATIONS COMPLETE.

All preparations for both the ceremonies attending the christening of the great gas bag and its subsequent flight have been completed. The balloon, which will be christened "Diamond," will be launched from the aviation field at Sixty-third and Telegraph avenue at 2 o'clock bearing four passengers. The opening address will be delivered by Councilman Harold Ewert, and the benediction will be given by Rev. Nelson E. Saunders.

STUDY HIGHER CURRENTS.

The higher currents of air will be studied during the flight, and the information gathered will be turned over to the Pacific Aero club for use of the aviators who are to take part in the great aviation meet planned for Oakland. This is much speculation as to the results of the flight, and a special effort will be made to study these currents for the benefit of aviators.

ADDITIONS AND REVISIONS MADE BY FREEHOLDERS

Recall Article Penalizing City Clerk and Council Is Amended; Little Time Left to Complete Work

Eleven of the members of the board of freeholders were present at the meeting last night. The absentees were Chairman Dornin and Freeholders Parsons and Shaw. The absence of Dr. Pardee was due to ill health, but he kept in touch with the action of the board by telephone and was thus able to facilitate its action.

Last night was decided, on motion of Freeholder Robinson, to be the closure on the introduction of new business. As the charter must be finished, amended and ready for publication and submission to the people to vote upon it on Tuesday, October 4, on which date the ninety days limitation will expire, the board decided that the few days remaining, revision of what has been tentatively adopted will be the order of business.

On this feature of charter making, the bulk of the work will fall on the revision committee, which consist of Robinson, Clark and Chamberlain. In fact, this committee has had an immense amount of work thrown upon it and for a long time past has been kept busy early and late.

ADDITION TO RECALL.

The new business introduced and adopted last night was an addition to the recall article. It provided that the city clerk and council through making it the duty of the auditor to refuse to issue warrants to them, should they willfully neglect to perform the duties imposed upon them in the recall article, the auditor being made the sole judge of the willfulness of the neglect.

IN SOCIETY

There's a reason why nearly everybody is freckled after the mid-summer of summer, but happily there is also a cure for those ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get one course of Otho—deaden strength, from Osgood Bros., and you'll get a little of it at night, and in the morning you will see that even the worst have begun to disappear, while the freckles have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, if not removed now they will stay; winter and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Money back if it fails.
